

FIRE AT WORK AGAIN
IN THE PINERIES.SPRINGS UP AFRESH UNDER A SWEEPING GALE.

People of the Village of Mora Driven Into a River—Several Other Places in Danger—Refugees at Pine City Panic Stricken—Stories of the Survivors.

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 10.—There is fresh terror in the pine lands of Minnesota. Myriads of forest fires have sprung into renewed activity between here and St. Paul driven by a strong gale that came suddenly out of the southwest. These fires have been smoldering for weeks; it has needed but a bit of wind to drive them into their old fierceness. The wind has come and half a dozen towns are in deadly danger.

At Mora, in Kanabec county, the whole population was driven into the little lake near the town, and nothing but a sudden shift of the wind saved the village. Pine City, just south of the Hinckley burnt district, is begirt with many fires. The place, with its 1,200 citizens and its hundreds of refugees, is considered to be seriously threatened. Ground House, a bit of a village just west of Mora, was deserted by its people. At Barnum, thirty-nine miles south of here, the people had a long and hard fight, but are now believed to be safe. Accounts of the same sort came from many other towns.

Right here in Duluth, in the outskirts, firemen have had to turn out and fight brush and lumber fires. The wind has risen as high as thirty-four miles an hour and the sky to the southwest has taken on the same dull, copper color that showed just before the frightful cyclone that fell upon Hinckley a week and a day ago.

Of all the narrow escapes of the day Mora had the closest. During the greater portion of the afternoon it was believed to have been lost. Mora is a town of 1,000 to 1,200 people, the county seat of Kanabec county, on the Eastern Minnesota road, twelve miles southeast of Hinckley. The town was just outside the range of the great fire of Saturday, which started about half way between the place and Pine City off to the southeast. This fire drove eastward and northward, coming no closer to Mora than Mud lake, six miles up the Eastern Minnesota road. Most of the refugees from Pokegama were taken to Una, where a large temporary hospital was established.

Since Thursday the woods left to the east of Mora have been burning furiously. This blaze is supposed to be driving eastward now toward Pine City, so far untouched by the train of calamities.

It was not until late last evening that any definite tidings of Mora were received. Then a telegram came saying: "At present Mora and other towns west of here are safe, but the loss of timber and cattle is great. Trains are kept in readiness at all towns to remove the people if danger again threatens."

At Barnum also a shift of the wind saved the village, though all afternoon it was thought that the town and its great lumber-yards were surely lost.

Every night for the last week the people of Barnum have been in acute terror of the flames. There have been three big fires burning within half a mile of the town, one to the northeast, one to the north, one to the northwest. Their vicious glare has driven sleep from the little village. During the calm nights they burned slowly and sullenly except when they occasionally struck a clump of balsam or birch—then there would shoot up a roaring sheet of flame as if from an exploding power magazine. Even a gentle breeze from any direction meant destruction to Barnum. All the people had their lighter possessions and valuables packed during the last week ready for quick flight into the water of the Moosehorn river, or to Bear or Hanging Horns lake.

At Kerriek, forty-one miles south of the Eastern Minnesota, the people had a terrific fight with the fire all afternoon, but at 7 o'clock the place was reported safe. Similar reports came from Moose Lake, Mahtown, Willow River, Rutledge, along the St. Paul & Duluth road. All these towns were in danger. Nothing but the change of the wind saved them. Here in Duluth the firemen have been fighting with blazes blown in from the woods all day. One crew had the stubborn sort of a struggle at the head of the incline at Duluth heights. A settlement of 500 people there was surrounded by fire and it took all afternoon to drive it back. The brush at Oneota near the Mesaba one docks was ablaze too and there was another fight there.

Clandubur Deluges Bethlehem, Pa.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 10.—An area of one square mile suffered from last night's cloudburst. The damage to private property is estimated at $50,000 and to sewers and highways $10,000. That no lives were lost is a miracle. The people in the flooded districts are poor and are suffering for want of assistance.

Executive Board of Knights of Labor. BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 10.—The executive board of the Knights of Labor will go into session to-day at the Genesee hotel, and will probably sit here for ten days.

GRAND ARMY VETERANS ASSEMBLE

Pittsburg Filled With Members of the G. A. R.—Camp Fires to be Held.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 10.—"Comrades" and friends flocked into Pittsburg all yesterday and night, taking complete possession of the city. It is estimated that on the night before the opening of the twenty-eighth national encampment at least 100,000 visitors are here and to-day's arrivals will swell the number three or four times. As the different visiting posts arrive they are met by escorts detailed from the local regiments of the national guard, and with flying colors and bands playing are taken to the places assigned them, cheered to the echo by the throngs on the sidewalks.

The naval veterans who arrived yesterday are established in quarters on the river on steamers fitted up especially for their use. Old times certainly are being revived to them, for they observe the strictest discipline on their "ships" and seem to be enjoying it to the full.

Among the noted arrivals yesterday were two men from Honolulu. They represent the full membership of the G. A. R. in Hawaii and were determined to be present at the last encampment which they will likely ever enjoy.

The Woman's Relief Corps headquarters in parlor No. 2 Monongahela house was a place of activity. No business was transacted, but as each member of the corps would arrive she was taken to headquarters and made to feel at home, friendships were renewed, new acquaintances made, and plans talked over for the business meetings of the week.

About the only matter that would be called disagreeable in connection with the encampment so far is the feeling of bitterness felt by the G. A. R. people at the action of the railroads in refusing a one-cent-a-mile rate for near by towns, thereby keeping down the number of visitors at least 20,000.

Interest in the commander-in-chief contest grows. The three names prominently mentioned are, Judge Charles D. Long of Michigan, Col. Ivan N. Walker of Indianapolis, Ind., and Col. Thomas G. Lawler of Rockford, Ill.

There will be two big parades. To-day there will be a procession composed of the National Association of Naval Veterans, Rear-Admiral B. S. Osborn in command, and the Sons of Veterans. To-morrow will occur the great demonstration of the Grand Army turnout, Commander-in-Chief J. B. Adams in command. At Washington two years ago Pennsylvania had the largest number of comrades in the parade, being some 9,000 strong. Ohio was the next in strength. There will be a big rivalry between the two departments.

The National Encampment will be opened Wednesday and continued Thursday, as will the encampments of the Grand Army Relief Corps and the Ladies of the G. A. R. society. Friday, Sept. 14, the committee will take the members of the National Encampment and other guests to the number of 2,500 persons on an Ohio river trip on three steamboats to Davis Island dam. They will then steam up to Homestead, where the battle between strikers and detectives occurred, and where Carnegie's great steel works are located. Among the big camp fires will be these: In Old City Hall, Past Commander-in-Chief L. Warner of Philadelphia, presiding; Allegheny, Past Commander-in-Chief William Warner of Kansas City, presiding; South Side, Past Commander-in-Chief A. G. Weissert of Milwaukee, presiding; Sewickley, Past Department Commander Thomas J. Stewart of Norristown, presiding. More than 100 solo singers, readers and elocutionists have offered their services to assist at these camp fires.

Several reunions have been arranged for. Among them will be that of Gen. John W. Geary's famous White Star division of the Twelfth and Twentieth Army corps in Allegheny, the Twenty-second Pennsylvania, Ringgold cavalry in Allegheny, Sept. 12, 10 a. m.; Marine Veterans' league, in the Pittsburgh fire marshal's office, Sept. 12, 1 p. m.; the Fourteenth Pennsylvania cavalry in Pittsburgh; the Twenty-third Army corps, Sept. 12, in Masonic hall; the Second Brigade, First Division, Fifth Army corps, Common Pleas court No. 2, Sept. 12, 10 a. m.; the Sixty-seventh Pennsylvania volunteers in the Circuit court room Sept. 12, 2 p. m. Among others that will hold reunions in the "Smoky City" this week are the Ninety-third, Ninety-eighth, One Hundred and Second, and One Hundred and Thirty-ninth Volunteer Infantry of Pennsylvania. Candy's, Aegley's, and Wheaton's brigades and Getty's and Casey's divisions. Sykes' regulars of the Army of the Potomac will meet in select council chamber Sept. 12 at 10 a. m. The Eleventh Pennsylvania volunteers will hold a reunion in select council's chamber at 2 p. m. Sept. 10.

Indiana Has a Candidate. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 10.—The Indiana contingent of veterans to the grand encampment left here by special trains. The delegation is 1,000 strong, and is pledged to work for the election of Vice-Commander-in-Chief Col. L. N. Walker of this city as next commander-in-chief.

Chased Thousand of Miles.

BEATRICE, Neb., Sept. 10.—Sheriff Higgins of Kit Carson county, Colo., in jail here yesterday identified Joseph Marrs and son and Cal. West, three members of a daring band of horse thieves. Higgins says he has spent hundreds of dollars and had traveled thousands of miles after them.

Celestial Forces Are in Northern Corea and are Cut Off From all Supplies—Cavalry Animals Slaughtered to Furnish Food For the Starving Troops.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 10.—The Chinese forces in northern Corea are hemmed by the Japanese. They are without supplies and are killing cavalry horses for food.

Ten Killed in a Belgium Wreck.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 10.—Ten persons were killed and twenty injured by the wreck of the Paris & Cologne express train yesterday. The accident happened at Apilly and was caused by a collision of the express train with a freight train which was being shunted. The bodies of the victims were badly mutilated, in some cases the head being severed from the trunk. It is reported the station master at Apilly, seeing a collision was inevitable, jumped in front of the express train and was killed. The list of dead and injured does not include any Americans.

Attack on the King of Servia.

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—The Frankfurter Zeitung publishes a report of a hostile demonstration against King Alexander of Servia recently. It says at Appalovatz near Nish, Servia, a mob threw a number of heavy stones at the railway saloon carriage of the king as it was passing through that place, and the king and his suite had a narrow escape from injury. None of the stone-throwers have been arrested.

Maniac Tries to Murder a Priest.

BUCHAREST, Sept. 10.—During the celebration of mass in a Catholic church yesterday a lunatic, who brandished a long knife, rushed up to the altar and tried to murder the priest. He was seized and disarmed before he could do any harm. The congregation was thrown into a state of semi-panic by the man's murderous attempt.

England Seeking to Interfere.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The Republique Francaise says it regards the reports that it is the intention of the Japanese to attack Shanghai as proof that Great Britain is seeking a pretext to intervene in the war between China and Japan. But this, the paper adds, the United States, France and Russia will not permit.

Remains of Count of Paris on View.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Many persons visited the Stowe house yesterday to take a last look at the remains of the Comte de Paris. All were orderly and showed genuine sympathy with the afflicted family. Most of the European courts will go into mourning.

Zimmerman Wins the Race at Geneva.

GENEVA, Sept. 10.—Arthur Zimmerman won the international five-kilometer bicycle race here yesterday; time, 8:35 1-5. In a preliminary heat Zimmerman covered the distance in 8:31 2-5. The track was damp.

Chile Has Not Sold Its Ships.

BUENOS AYRES, Sept. 10.—A dispatch from Valparaiso says the Chilean government has made a formal denial of the report that half the vessels of the Chilean navy have been sold to China.

Rebel Garrison Annihilated.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—A special dispatch from Buenos Ayres says: "A correspondent in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, sends word that the federals in the province of Rio Grande do Sul have taken Tacany City and killed the Garrison. The town of Melo, Uruguay, is full of revolutionists, who are preparing to cross into Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil, join Gen. Saravia and renew the fight. They declare that they will raise the flag of the Monarchy upon their arrival."

$100,000,000 Wanted.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The daily news comments thus to-day on the prospect that work on the Panama canal is to be resumed: "The good will of the concern as it stands can not be worth much, nor are American or French capitalists the sort of people to pay much from sentiment. If $20,000,000 can complete the work there seems to be no reason why commercial success should not dawn on the enterprise at some distant day."

Awaiting Proceedings Elsewhere.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, Sept. 10.—Judge Shiras who originally expected to heat at Cedar Rapids to-day argument on the motion to vacate the injunction against the railroad strikers, will not do so. The case evidently hangs on proceedings elsewhere, until the determination of which the government will not be prepared to prosecute or dismiss the action here.

Challenged the Editor.

MADRID, Sept. 10.—The duke of Bivona, president of the council of state, is to fight a duel with the editor of El Nacional. The dispute grew out of an article published in the paper.

Secretary Morton to Go to Europe.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Secretary of Agriculture Morton will sail for Europe, Tuesday. The secretary says the drought has been very disastrous. The suffering by the drought, he fears, will be largely increased by the great fires.

IN A LITTLE TOWNTHIEVES RAID ST. PETERS-BURG PENN.

W. F. Colner & Co., Private Bankers and Dealers in General Merchandise Lose a Large Sum in Cash, Bonds and Notes—No Clue Found to the Robbers.

CLARION, Pa., Sept. 10.—W. F. Colner & Co., general merchants and private bankers, at St. Petersburg, Pa., were robbed of seventy thousand dollars in bonds, cash and notes, Saturday September 1. The robbery was kept quiet, but no clue was discovered.

Noted Desperado Lynched.

MINDEN, La., Sept. 10.—Link Wagoner, a noted desperado of north Louisiana and eastern Texas, was shot to death in his cell in the parish jail by a mob last night at 1 o'clock. Wagoner had many friends in this section of the country and they may also take a hand in a feud which would be a bloody one from the outset.

Mob Tries to Break Into Jail.

FINDLAY, Ohio, Sept. 10.—A mob tried to get into the county jail to lynch John C. West, who is charged with assaulting Annie Martin, 15 years old and crippled. West was found by a posse of farmers secreted in a barn and came near being strung up at the time. The mob was repulsed.

Find a Murderer Insane.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 10.—Drs. C. C. Hersman and Samuel Ayres of the commission appointed to inquire into the sanity of George Duckovic, the condemned murderer, are of the opinion that Duckovic is insane now and was not of sound mind at the time of the murder. Duckovic is sentenced to be hanged Sept. 20.

NELLIE GRANT-SARTORIS.

Report That She Is to Wed Major H. Kydd Douglas Revived.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—The report that Mrs. Nellie Grant-Sartoris, daughter of the late Gen. Grant, is soon to marry Major H. Kydd Douglas has again been revived and in consequence society is in a state of expectancy. Should this marriage take place it will be one of the most notable in years and will join members of families of the two leaders in the late war. Major Douglas was a member of Stonewall Jackson's staff, and was well known in confederate circles. The report arises from the fact that both Mrs. Sartoris and Major Douglas are in Washington at the Arlington, and are in each other's society almost constantly.

Ulysses S. Grant said to-day: "I have not been notified that any engagement between Mrs. Sartoris and Major Douglas exists, and I don't think any of our family has heard of it."

STATE AID REQUIRED.

Reports from Nebraska's Drouth Regions Tell the Tale of Destruction.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 10.—As a result of the many exaggerated reports in circulation as to drouth destitution in Nebraska the Bee publishes an accurate statement of the condition in each county from the county commissioners. These reports indicate the actual condition of the people in the drouth-stricken counties is not and does not promise to become as serious as heretofore predicted. Only in the western portion of the state are there likely to be urgent demands for aid. In Lincoln county the situation is worse than elsewhere. To indicate the urgent need of this assistance it may be said correspondence looking to the calling of a convention to consider the best methods for securing and rendering aid has been carried on recently between many county officials in these western counties.

Twenty-One Buried at Pokegama.

ST. CLOUD, Minn., Sept. 10.—John Coates of the relief committee, and Street commissioner Lorezzer returned last night from Pokegama and Hinckley, where they made a thorough survey of the burned district. Twenty-one have been buried at Pokagama, and two are still missing.

Rain Allays Fears.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Sept. 10.—The prolonged drouth that burned and parched vegetation, and was the cause of great apprehension of sweeping forest fires here, was broken by a rain that began early yesterday morning and continued during the day and night at intervals.

Sweaters Strike Nearing the End.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Tailors and contractors are agreed that the strike will be settled within forty-eight hours. This means that all coat-makers who are out will return to work Wednesday morning. Nearly all the employers have signed the agreement.

It Has Yellow Fever on Board.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The Marine hospital service was yesterday informed of the arrival at the Cape Canaveral, Fla., quarantine station from Havana of an American bark with three cases of yellow fever on board. The vessel was sent to the quarantine station for detention.

MUCH GLASS SMASHED.

Big Hailstones Fall Thick and Fast at Rochelle, Ill.

ROCHELLE, Ill., Sept. 10.—The most terrific rain and hail storm that has ever visited this section occurred yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. The hail, which was large, smashed glass in every house in this city. The streams are full to overflowing, but no danger is apprehended.

VALPARAISO, Ind., Sept. 10.—The worst storm ever seen in this part of the country raged last night. A number of buildings were struck by lightning and burned, also a number of stock killed.

EMPORIA, Kan., Sept. 10.—News was received from Madison, a few miles south of here, yesterday of the drowning of Frank Martell, the owner of several large stock ranches near this place. The accident was caused by his attempting to ford the Neosho river. The body has not yet been recovered.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Sept. 10.—The most extensive electrical storm that has taken place in this region for some years occurred last night, raging from 6 p. m. to 10:30 p. m., with incessant fury. So far as heard from no damage was done by lightning in or about the city.

PRINCETON, Ill., Sept. 10.—Electrical storms, accompanied by heavy rains, visited Bureau county yesterday afternoon, and in some localities leveled trees and outbuildings and injured the corn crop.

MARSHALLTOWN, Iowa, Sept. 10.

The heaviest rain that has fallen for years visited this section of country yesterday.

FAIRBURY, Ill., Sept. 10.

North-bound mail train No. 10 on the Wabash railroad was ditched when three-quarters of a mile out of Sauneman yesterday afternoon. The engineer and fireman were killed.

STILL AFTER LYNCHERS.

Sheriff's Son at Memphis, Tenn., Reveals the Plot of the Mob.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 10.—Bob McCarver, son of the newly elected sheriff of Shelby county, has unfolded the whole plot of the Kerrville lynching and is now in jail, failing to give $10,000 bonds to insure his remaining in the city. It is conceded the grand jury is in possession of the most damaging evidence against the parties in jail charged with the killing, and it is confidently intimated an indictment will be returned in a day or two and bench warrants will be issued against the parties who are suspected of having been among the men who did the shooting. If guilty, as charged, of murder in the first degree on six counts, hanging will be the penalty. There is still the most intense excitement over the affair throughout the state.

Believe in State Ownership.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The trades-union congress of Great Britain, which has been in session all the week at Norwich, adjourned yesterday. The socialistic sentiment was very strong and it was almost the unanimous opinion of the congress that the time had come for workingmen to demand that the state take possession of all natural monopolies and operate them in the interest of the people.

Election in Maine To-day.

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 10.—The Maine election is being held to-day to elect governor, members of the legislature and representatives in the national house. The legislature chosen will elect a senator, the term of Senator Frye expiring. He will doubtless be his own successor, as no opposing candidate has appeared and the republicans are confident of victory.

Jumped the Track.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 10.—Last evening about 6 o'clock an excursion train on the New Orleans & Southern railroad jumped the track for some reason unknown and Julius Applehouse, a youth 19 years old, living at Poydras plantation, was instantly killed. The engineer, David Crawford, was fatally crushed, and an unknown boy about 15 years old is also injured internally.

Complaint About Prize Money.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 10.—Indiana Knights of Pythias are stirring up a sensation as a result of the recent encampment of the knights at Washington. The prize money failed to come up to the full amounts subscribed, and as a consequence the winners are considerably incensed. The management of the encampment is being severely criticised.

Another Disagreement Probable.

ASHLAND, Wis., Sept. 10.—At 11 o'clock Saturday night the French murder case juryman returned to the courtroom to be recharged by Judge Parish. Nothing has been heard from the jury since. It looks like another disagreement.

Heavy Storm at Fairbury, Ill.

FAIRBURY, Ill., Sept. 10.—A heavy storm passed over this section late last night, the rain falling in torrents accompanied by a heavy wind in some localities. Farmers from everywhere report considerable damage to everything exposed.

Cyclone Tears Up Muscoda, Wis.

RICHLAND CENTER, Wis., Sept. 10.—The big Muscoda bridge over the Wisconsin river at Muscoda was wrecked by a cyclone last night. Several houses were unroofed and blown down.

RULING ON PENSIONERS.

Important Decisions Made by Assistant Secretary Reynolds.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Two decisions, far reaching in their results, have just been rendered by Assistant Secretary Reynolds of the interior department construing the act of June 27, 1890, in its relation to the general pension system as affected by Sec. 4,716 of the revised statutes, which prohibit the payment of money on account of pensions to any person who voluntarily aided or abetted the rebellion. It is held that enlistment in the Confederate army by a prisoner of war was aiding and abetting the rebellion and forfeits the right to pension for disability incurred in prior service in the Union army, unless it be satisfactorily shown that such enlistment was for the purpose of making an escape to the Union lines.

Fatal Accident in Hoosac Tunnel.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Sept. 10.—The most horrible disaster known in this vicinity took place on the Fitchburg road last evening in the Hoosac Tunnel, a short distance east of the central shaft. A freight train following a passenger too closely ran into it in the tunnel. Both trains were badly wrecked, the tunnel blocked, and two men killed outright and three seriously injured. Operator Hodgins, who was in charge of the signal lights at the east portal, is confined in the police station, on the charge of criminal carelessness. W. Hodgkins, the west portal operator, has also been placed under arrest. He claims he received the O. K. from the east end operator and consequently changed his signal. The authorities will make a thorough investigation.

Nothing Heard of Dr. Conkling.

ELKHART, Ind., Sept. 10.—A correspondent visited Cassopolis, Mich., the scene of the mysterious disappearance of Dr. A. B. Conkling and interviewed the wife of the missing man and the leading citizens of the place regarding the matter. No information tending to throw any light on the matter has as yet been secured.

For Violating Sealing Laws.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 10.—The steamer Collier Williamette, from Dutch Harbor, Alaska, brings news that Aug. 14 the schooner Favorite, flying the English flag, was captured by the Mohican for violating the sealing laws.

WRECK WAS FATAL TO M'MAHON.

C. & N. W. 9:25 LIMITED IN A
SMASH UP LAST NIGHT.

DEAD MAN, A FIREMAN WHO LIVED IN JANESVILLE.

Engineer Charles Stearns Also of This City, Saved His Own Life and Those of Others By Retaining His Presence of Mind—Baggageman and Mail Clerk Hurt—Wind Caused the Accident.

Pinioned underneath 20,000 pounds of coal, by an iron rod that pierced his body through and through, Fireman John McMahon of this city, gave up his life at Barrington, Illinois, last night when the limited train due here at 9:25 p. m. was wrecked. Only his presence of mind saved Engineer Charles Stearns; also of this city.

The killed:
M'MAHON, JOHN, Janesville. Married, but had no children. Hote punched through his body by an iron rod and a carload of coal dumped on him. Death thought to be instantaneous. Body dug from the ruins and sent to Chicago, where his mother lives.

The injured:
BONDREAU, A. J., mail clerk; silver driven through his jaw and body bruised by being thrown through a partition.
GREEN THOMAS, baggageman. Injuries dangerous, and an unconfirmed report says that they were fatal. Resided at Elroy.

BLISS, A. J., passenger, Boston. Leg broken; taken to Chicago.
JAFREYS, MISS RACHEAL, Capron, Ill., passenger, internal injuries and may die.
STEARNS, CHARLES, Janesville's engineer, bruises and severe shock.

Crash in the Rain.

While running at the speed of thirty-five miles an hour and with less than an instant's warning, the heavy train plunged into two carloads of coal at the siding used by the Elgin Joliet & Eastern road for delivering cars to the Chicago and Northwestern a mile from Barrington. Engineer Stearns was peering through the fog, rain and darkness that enveloped everything at 7:35 o'clock, the time of the accident, when suddenly he saw a dark, three cornered shape, take form in the gloom ahead of him. Instinctively he reversed his engine, put on the air brakes and jumped behind the boiler head. This act saved him for in an instant the crash came. Coal flew in all directions as the heavy engine, backed by a baggage, mail and smoking car, day coaches and four Pullmans, poked its point into the heavily freighted "gondolas." Escaping steam, crushing timbers and cracking iron work mingled with grinding of the reversed wheels and then all was still. The cab had been stripped from the engine and although surrounded with wreckage Engineer Stearns crawled out painfully. Sticking to the engine and doing what he could to prevent loss of life had saved his own.

Fireman McMahon Killed.

Fireman McMahon was not so fortunate. From under the coal, broken rods and other wreckage his fellows dug him. When he saw the impending danger the instinct of self-preservation came and with it a resolution to adopt the best course. Jumping seemed the only alternative. In a bound he reached the "gang-way," or opening between the cab and the tender and here he gave up his life, before he had a chance to jump or turn back. As he hesitated whether to leap to the earth that was whirling by beneath, or return to face the probable crushing and scalding that seemed to await him in the engine cab, the crash came. At that instant the heavy iron rod upon which the canvas curtain was strung, swung around and the force of the collision drove the bar through his body. The bar was a heavy one, calculated by its weight to hold the curtain down while the engine was moving, and it pierced his yielding flesh as if it had been but a box of pasteboard. No sound escaped him, and an instant later a carload of coal had been heaped upon his lifeless body.

Shock Hurt the Others.

Behind the engine the work had not been so terrible. At work in the mail car was Mail Clerk Bondreau. When the crash came he was hurled from his seat and a flying splinter was driven under his chin. This with the jar and crushing bruises composed his injuries, which are serious. In the next car behind him was Baggageman Green. When the collision brought the train to a standstill, he too, was bowled over. His injuries are serious, but their exact nature is not yet known. A report reached Janesville this morning that he was dead but it could not be confirmed as the railroad company was not furnishing any more information than they could comfortably avoid. A. J. Bliss of Boston and Mrs. Jeffries were passengers and while the former's leg was broken the latter's injuries were more serious and she is now thought to be dangerously hurt. Other passengers may also have been injured, but if they were the story is not being circulated by those who would know.

McMahon a Married Man.

John McMahon, the dead fireman, was a resident of this city, he and his wife making their home on Center street. They had no children. And Mrs. McMahon is now visiting relatives at Nashua, Iowa. The message that told her of her husband's tragic end, flashed across the country last night and today she is expected at Chicago. McMahon's mother resided in Janesville for some time, but of late has made Chicago her home. To her the mangled remains of her son were delivered as soon as they were recovered last night.

Engineer Charles Stearns whose escape was almost miraculous, also resides in Janesville, and is widely known. Conductor George Devans, who had charge of the wrecked train, resides at number 10 Linn street. Engineer Stearns took the 6:25 limited south from here, Saturday night, and his run Sunday night would have been from Chicago to Janesville with the limited, had the accident not shortened it by half.

Wind Caused the Wreck.

The gale of wind that blew last night was the cause of the accident, and the fog that came with it made the deadly work more effective. The siding where the accident occurred is a long one. It is used by the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern road to sidetrack cars that are to be transferred to the Northwestern. On it there stood two "gondolas" loaded with coal, each of which would weigh forty thousand pounds or more. A strong gust of wind set them in motion, and they slowly rolled down toward the main line. Fully a mile long was their run, and when they reached the main line the split switch allowed the first one to run past way beyond it before the wheels bound and the cars stopped. Had the switch been an old fashioned one, they would have been derailed, but that would have made no difference. It was into the jagged corners of the loaded car that the engine plunged. Passing the obstruction partially in its flight, the engine was forced from the rails and the coal piled upon the dead fireman. All the cars were more or less wrecked, although those ahead suffered most.

Train Was Running Fast.

The train runs at a good rate of speed at the point where the accident occurred. It is due to leave Barrington at 7:35 o'clock and does not stop, so possibly forty miles an hour was the speed it had attained. Wind, rain and clouds made it so dark that a view could not be had very far ahead of the engine and Engineer Stearns' warning came in time only for him to reverse, apply the brakes and seek a place of safety. To his coolness, probably, is due not only his own escape but that of many others.

A wrecking crew was sent from Janesville as soon as possible last night and another was dispatched from Chicago. They at once went to work and the first train to get through the obstruction came to Janesville at 11 o'clock this morning. The limited due here at 1:30 a. m. and several other trains were run by way of the Galena division last night.

Stearns Says He Couldn't See.

Engineer Stearns says that in such darkness, and with the rain pelting against the headlight, he was able to see but a few yards ahead of the train. The flashing lightning rather seemed to blind him than add to his ability to see along the rails. The coal car was standing directly on the corner of the crossing. The engine was not more than twenty yards away from the car when the engineer discovered the obstruction ahead. He sprang to the air brakes and at the same time called upon the fireman to jump. Engineer Stearns succeeded in applying the air brakes before the crash came, but not in time to lessen the speed of the train appreciably. The air brakes were only fairly in action when the pilot of the engine struck the coal car. The latter was cut in two and its contents scattered over the engine and crossing. The engine did not leave the rails until the front end of the express car immediately behind it had come in contact with the wrecked coal car. Then both engine and express car jumped the track and were overturned into the ditch on the west side of the rails. The baggage car did not leave the rails, but was wedged tight against the overturned express car.

DOCTOR OUT ON $1,000 BAIL.

Former Janesville Physician Charged with a Serious Crime in Lansing, Mich.

Dr. Holman S. Humphrey, who ran a sanitarium in this city a few years ago, occupying part of what is now Riverview, is in very hot water. He practiced in Hinsdale, Mich. some years after leaving here and then went to Lansing. In Lansing he has been bound over in the circuit court for trial by Justice Dolan, on the charge of manslaughter, preferred by Julia Cosgray, of Nashville, Mich., who alleges that the doctor first seduced her and afterward committed a criminal operation. Bail in the sum of $1000 was furnished.

THINGS DONE BY STATE FOLK.

THERE are 249 homeless children at the Sparta state school.

MELROSE can boast of a cottonwood tree 10 feet in diameter.

W. T. McKenna was blinded by being struck in the eye by a rose bush while passing through his garden in La Crosse.

ROY PHILLIPS got a spoonful of shot in his stomach, instead of stolen watermelon, and John Bude, of Waupaca, the owner of the melon patch, is under arrest.

FRANK BUSCHMAN of Meeme, is 6 feet 5 1/2 inches high, has no superfluous flesh and weighs 300 pounds. He is only 29 years old and has the strength of two ordinary men.

WHILE William Bennett of Centerville was rolling a barrel of salt into his pasture, he was attacked by a bull and narrowly escaped death. The enraged animal struck him in the side, throwing him about ten feet, breaking three ribs. The bull then jumped on him and would have killed him had not his cries for help brought his dog to the rescue.

TRINITY LOOKS BACK FOR HALF A CENTURY

JANESVILLE CHURCH MARKS ITS SEMI-CENTENIAL.

Bishop Nicholson and the Clergymen of the Madison Convocation Will Gather Here on the 25th of this Month and Jubilee Services Will Be Held.

Impressive ceremonies will mark Trinity church's semi-centennial. Fifty years ago this month the church was established, and on Tuesday, the 25th, all the clergy of the Madison convocation will be here. Their annual gathering fits in well with the arrangements already made for observing the anniversary.

Bishop Nicholson is president of the Madison convocation and will be in attendance. Rev. Fayette Royce of Beloit, dean of the convocation, will also be here as well as Very Rev. C. T. Susan of Portage, archdeacon, secretary and treasurer. Other clerical members are: Rev. Fran. H. Barton, Monroe; Rev. Thomas Beeson, Mazomanie; Rev. Benj. T. Bensted, Prairie Du Chien; Rev. Geo. F. Brigham, Sharon; Rev. March Chase, Mineral Point; Rev. S. B. Cowdrey, Baraboo; Rev. Fayette Durille, Madison; Rev. E. E. Edwards, Ph. D. Lancaster; Rev. A. W. Griffin, Portage; Rev. F. S. Jewell, Ph. D. Portage; Rev. C. H. Kidder, Evansville; Rev. W. B. Magman, Platteville; Rev. S. W. Moran, Madison; Rev. O. J. Scovell, Darlington; Rev. E. R. Sweetland, Sharon; Rev. A. H. Barrington, Janesville and Rev. William H. Wotton of Janesville. John G. Hatton of Brodhead and John H. Daniel of Hazel Green are lay readers.

An especial effort will be made to insure a full attendance during the jubilee celebration. The jubilee services will be held Tuesday and the programme will be:

7:00 a. m.—Holy Communion.
11:30 a. m.—Matins and Historical Address.
1:00 p. m.—Luncheon.
3:30 p. m.—Blessing of New Rectory.
7:30 p. m.—Evensong and Sermon by the Bishop.

Wednesday the convocation services will be as follows:

7:30 a. m.—Holy Communion.
9:30 a. m.—Matins.
10:00 a. m.—Business Meeting.
10:30 a. m.—Topic: Canon XIII. Of the duties of convocation. Leaders, Archdeacon Susan, Dean Royce and Dr. Jewell, followed by a general discussion.
2:30 p. m.—Business Meeting.
3 p. m.—Division of the diocese. Rev. March Chase, leader, followed by discussion.
7:30 p. m.—Evensong and ten minute talks on confirmation. 1. At what age should confirmation be administered? Rev. Benj. T. Bensted. 2. What plan of instruction should be followed by the rector? Rev. Frank H. Barton. 3. What length of time should be given to instructing? Rev. Dr. Edwards. 4. What are the best books for helps in preparing candidates? Rev. C. H. Kidder. 5. What are the best methods to secure a constant attendance at holy communion? Rev. O. Scovell.

An offering will be made at all the services on Tuesday for the Rectory Fund, and on Wednesday to defray the expenses, the mileage of the clergy being the largest item.

MOURN FOR THE MARRIED MAN

"Sad But True" is the Heading Over a Matrimonial Announcement.

They have a funny way of printing wedding notices in the Evansville papers. This appears in the Tribune:

SAD BUT TRUE. It grieves our heart to learn of the early demise of our friend and comrad Wm. LaBurk, and however sad our feelings may be, it was so designed by the Supreme power that the best of friends must part, yet it is very consoling to our weary heart that he has not been consigned to Mother Earth, but to the arms of a lady physician of Philadelphia, Pa., whom we trust will use all the powers of her medical skill to prolong his life and make it one of joy and happiness. Adieu, A FRIEND.

The groom appends this spirited reply:

Dear friend I feel sorry over your loss, but then the early Bird Caught the Orphan, your chance was as good as Philadelphia M. D., but you are too late now, so what is your sad loss is my gain. Adieu, BILLY.

ELECTION OFFICERS NAMED.

Mayor Thoroughgood Will Appoint Clerks and Inspectors This Evening.

The meeting of the common council this evening will be more than usually interesting from the fact that Mayor Thoroughgood will be called upon to appoint clerks and inspectors of election. There will be nine voting precincts to be provided for this year, which calls for the appointment of twenty-seven inspectors and thirty-six clerks. There are three inspectors, two clerks and two ballot clerks for each voting precinct. There are now two precincts in the First, Second, Third and Fourth wards, the Fifth ward having only one. There should be more than the usual care bestowed on the selection, to the end that the inspectors and clerks be the right men in the right place, and men who are capable of canvassing the votes without delay and without blunders.

AGED MAN HAD A SEVERE FALL.

Israel Wrote Dropped Twenty-Four Feet and Received Serious Injuries.

Israel Wrote of Footville, who was at work on Strang's warehouse, fell Saturday and fractured both bones of his left arm just above the wrist, also his hips. He went on the staging to get some nails but lost his balance, falling to the ground a distance of about twenty-four feet. He being an aged man his recovery is very doubtful.

HE SEES CHANGES IN THE CITY.

"Cash" Andrews Comes Back After Thirty Years—His Memory Active.

C. W. Andrews, formerly a member of Co. B, 13th Wisconsin volunteers, is in the city, visiting his old comrades. Mr. Andrews is better known as "Cash" Andrews. He left Janesville soon after being mustered out at the close of the war, and has been wandering over the west and south west ever since.

"I thought I was old Rip Van Winkle, when I walked from the depot down town, across the bridge to the corner of Main and Court street," said he to a Gazette reporter. "I was only fifteen years old when I enlisted in Captain Woodman's Janesville Zouaves, and today I am just forty-eight years old. As I walked slowly down from the depot I watched closely to see if I could recognize any of the old Janesville faces that I was familiar with when a kid. I walked slowly and watched closely, and it was not until I had almost reached Court street that I met Charley Lee. I walked up to him and shook hands. 'I think you are Charley Lee. Am I right?' I said to him. I was right, but Lee did not recognize me at first, and I began to wonder what had become of all the boys. At the corner I met Tom Baker. I knew Tom at first sight, although I had not seen him since I was mustered out with him over thirty years ago. Tom carries a good sized bay window now. Then he was as thin as myself. But I knew him, and he knew me. The old American House was on that corner when I left Janesville. Now I see a fine church. When I left, the Hyatt House loomed up on the corner of West Milwaukee and Franklin street, and the Myers block only had the hotel part built. There was but one store on the bridge. Everything has changed, and old Janesville does not look like the same place. It has certainly more than doubled in size since I left. I see but few people whom I can recognize."

During the war Mr. Andrews' father ran a grocery store on West Milwaukee street, the store being now occupied by Tarrant & Osgood. He afterwards engaged in the commission business, and then removed to Chicago.

FATHERS GOES TO CHATTANOOGA.

Janesville Man a Representative to the Grand Sovereign Lodge of the World. City Treasurer James A. Fathers will leave on Thursday for Chattanooga, Tennessee, to be absent about two weeks. Mr. Fathers is grand representative of the Grand Encampment of Wisconsin Odd Fellows to the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the World, which assembles in its annual session on Lookout Mountain. Mr. Fathers is the second Janesville man who has been honored with this exalted position. Many years ago the late C. C. Cheney was made a delegate to the grand sovereign body. There is but one other position in the order that Mr. Fathers has not held, that being Grand Sire, which but few among the many can attain. But there are many years of usefulness before the young Janesville man, and he possesses the ability to climb fame's ladder.

P. L. HENRICHS C. M. & ST. P. AGENT

Boscobel Man Named to Succeed H. R. Johnson in the Bower City.

P. L. Henrichs of Boscobel is the new agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway in Janesville. Mr. Henrichs arrived in the city this morning and at once assumed the duties and responsibilities of the position. While he is somewhat of a stranger to Janesville people, he has had a long experience in railroad, and is a gentleman well qualified for the position.

Business Better Than Last Year.

Our sales for August just passed were 21 per cent. ahead of last August and this in face of the hard times the merchants are crying about. Times with us are better, and the only reason we can assign is that we buy cheaper than any other dry goods merchant in Janesville, because we pay spot cash, and then we do not want all the profit, we give half of it to our customers. MAGGIE N. SET THE PACE AT WHITEWATER.

Made the Best Mile on the Course and Took First Money From May Douglas After Trotting a Dead Heat—Gossip of the Horses—Galesburg's Big Meeting.

John C. Chadwick, the Janesville horseman, rode ahead of all of them at Whitewater Saturday, he winning the free-for-all trotting purse with Maggie N., his bay Cupid mare. Maggie took the first two heats handily, beating Harrison Reed both times. The third heat fell to Mary Douglas, with Maggie second, and the fourth was declared a dead heat between the two, but Maggie won the deciding one. The best time was Maggie's first heat in 2:22 1/2, which was the best ever made on the Whitewater track. The rain made the course very slow.

Jack Riley, who won his race here earlier in the season, won in the 2:24 class at Fond du Lac Saturday, but third money was all he could get.

George Spear won the special pacing purse at La Crosse Saturday, with Sphinxetta, defeating Princess Eulalia. The two with others, met in a colt class here, Sphinxetta winning easily.

Kissell's Dallas, the Indian Chief pacer who was in the Janesville free-for-all last July won the purse for that class at LaGrange, Indiana, Saturday on a slow track. Tod Crook, a horse that won here last June, was in the race, as was also Blonde, the pacer, who set the Janesville track record at 2:14 1/2, which mark Rocker reduced to 2:12.

Another horse who paced in Janesville last July was Maggie R., but she did not get a place. George West sent her to the front at Des Moines Saturday defeating the 2:15 class animals in three straight heats. West also won the 2:30 class purse with Monette, the horse that he drove to victory in the two-mile trotting derby at Chicago.

Galesburg's big meeting is now the topic of interest among local horsemen. C. W. Williams, the former Independence, Iowa, man is in charge, and it is predicted that it will be the best meeting of the year. It is too bad that Williams did not come to Janesville, for his trotting events draw immense crowds. A great many horses that have gone here are entered, the entries being 553 in number and including the best stables in America.

L. P. Dearborn and F. P. Schicker, left for St. Joseph, Mo. last night, where they will sell pools on the big races. From there they go to Galesburg, Ill. Mr. Dearborn is an experienced bookmaker and he will do well.

A convert to Christianity in Syria who was urged by his employer to work on Sunday declined. "But," said the employer, "does not your bible say that if a man has an ox or an ass that falls into a pit on the Sabbath day, he may pull him out?" "Yes," answered the convert, "but if the ass has the habit of falling into the same pit every Sabbath day, then the man should either fill up the pit or sell the ass."

“RIF” BITS OF HUMOR.
Equal to the Occasion.
 “Don’t be frightened, Miss Plunkett,” said the young man, reassuringly, as the vessel gave another fearful lurch to leeward. “There is no immediate danger; but perhaps I’d better put a life-preserver around you.”
 “Not yet, Mr. Hankinson,” responded the young woman, bravely. “But I will take your arm.”
 Mr. Hankinson thought he understood, and with rare presence of mind he put his arm around her instead.—Chicago Tribune.

A Protest.
 “Well,” said Plodding Pete, “I certainly did work that young feller on the bicycle for some good smokin’ ter-backer.”

“Ye done what?” said Meandering Mike.
 “I worked ‘im.”
 “There’s the pernicious influence of slang. It degrades our sensibilities and makes us call noble actions by names that drag ‘em down ter the commonplace level. Pete, whatever else ye do, stop usin’ slang.”—Washington Star.

 Second Artist—Yes, I heard him lecture on it last night.
 First Artist—But you didn’t know that he doesn’t even suspect I painted it.
 Second Artist—Yes, he explained that he could use it to illustrate errors in art, as it was anonymous.—Vogue.

An Irresistible Inducement.
 Customer—What is the price of this goods?
 Clerk—That is four dollars and ninety-nine cents a yard, madam.
 Customer—Oh, that is much too dear.
 Clerk—But it is reduced from five dollars.
 Customer—Is that so? I’ll take ten yards.—Judge.

Last Obstacle Removed.
 Husband—I think it very probable that the divided skirt will be generally adopted now.
 Wife—Why do you think so?
 Husband—The paper says that a Parisian dressmaker has at last found a way to make it cost as much as the other kind.—Boston Globe.

The Usual Thing.
 “What shall I say about the concert?” said the new reporter to his chief.
 “Was there any especial feature?”
 “No, sir; it was a regular thing.”
 “Then say the performance was one of unusual merit, and let it go at that.”
 —Truth.

Easily Remedied.
 Bank Clerk—This check, madame, is not filled in.
 Madame—Isn’t what?
 Bank Clerk—It is signed by your husband all right, but doesn’t state how much money you want.
 Madame—O, is that all? Well, I’ll take all there is.—Pearson’s.

BROWN BROS. & LINCOLN.

THE TENDERFOOT’S FRIEND.

An ingenious trap.
 Quite a ghastly story is told of the British general postoffice, concerning “invisible ink.” A postman had long been suspected of stealing sheets of postage-stamps, but the crime could not be brought home to him. One day he was found with a square foot or two of them in his possession, and confronted with his official superiors. He maintained, as on former occasions, that he had bought them for his own use. “What! these?” exclaimed his chief, at the same time passing a moist brush over one of the sheets, whereupon the blood-red words, “Stolen from the general postoffice,” started out like flame upon it. An eye-witness of the occurrence described it as most melodramatic, and the ingenious chemical contrivance at once brought the thief to his knees.—Argonaut.

Muscles of the Hand.
 The muscles of the hand reach their highest perfection in man; no other animal has a true hand; the muscles of the eyes, ears and nose show that several groups, which in the lower animals are very highly developed, in man are in an almost rudimentary condition.

One Old Lady’s Opinion.
 “Don’t you think,” asked the enthusiastic young minister, “that the time is near at hand when wars will be no more?”
 “Goodness, no!” exclaimed Mrs. Jason. “War’s about the only chance the men folks has to show that they air really any use.”

A TRAVELER'S EXPERIENCE.

The Telephone Got Mixed Up and His Room Was Too Warm.

"When I was in Switzerland," said the returned traveler to a Detroit Free Press man, "I had an accident happen to me that almost caused my death. I was stopping at a hotel at the foot of a mountain, and one of the hottest nights I ever felt anywhere, I went to my room, and, opening up everything, I went to bed and to sleep, for I was dead tired after a long hard day's climb on the mountain. I don't know how long I slept, but for a long time before I woke I was dreaming that I had died and gone below and had struck the hottest place that locality had to offer. I rolled over in torment and squirmed and had, really, a devil of a time, but at last I came to my senses enough to get up and see what was the matter. Then I discovered that all my windows had been closed, a fire made in the big stove in the room and a foot thick of cover laid over me. I was so weak I could hardly stand when I first got out of that actual hotbed of Satan, but a few minutes at the window, which I opened, refreshed me very much, and as soon as I could I got down to the office. There I found a mild-mannered chap, and I am ready to bet he never got such a tongue-lashing as I gave him before he had a chance to either apologize or fight. I knew he wouldn't fight, and after a while he began to explain. The first thing he said was to the effect that I ordered the fire and the extra cover, and then went at him worse than ever. No doubt I would have sailed in and kicked him through a skylight, but my racket raised the proprietor, a very nice fellow, and he came out to see what the matter was. Well, it took a long time to get it straight, but it seems that the wire from the telephone in my room—the hotel was new and had all the latest wrinkles—had somehow got mixed up with a wire that led up to the other hotel on the mountain above the snow line, and that a guest up there in trying to telephone to his hotel chap that he was freezing to death and wanted fire and cover, and the whole business got on to my wire and my hotel chap had got the message, as he thought, from me, and thinking that Americans were semi-savage anyhow, forthwith sent a servant up to my room, hot as it was, with instructions to heat things up and give me plenty of cover, and by no means to disturb me or I'd kill somebody. Just what took place I don't know; all I know is that I didn't get over the effects of it for a month, and now I muzzle any telephone I catch in my room, I don't care where it leads to."

The Cat's Breath.

A recently published story criticizes the notion that "a cat sucks away a child's breath." This, declares the Brooklyn Standard-Union, is merely an expression erroneous in its form of a physiological fact. All the feline possess poisonous breaths, intended by nature to act as an anaesthetic on their prey. If a person cares to experiment by inhaling, for instance, a cat's breath, he can easily realize the truth of this statement. Carefully watch a cat playing with a captured mouse. You will discover that the mouse does not suffer, but is rather stupefied, as if by chloroform. Livingstone states that once when he was seized by a lion and his arm broken, the crunching of the broken arm gave him no pain, so benumbed were his senses by the animal's breath. A cat seeks the child, its soft bed and the warmth of its body, and lies down on the chest of the infant. Its weight impedes respiration, its breath anaesthetizes the child and death follows. This circumstance has actually occurred, and medical records conclusively prove it.—The Evangelist.

The Wary Admiral.

The late Admiral Bailey was once cited as a witness in a civil lawsuit, an ordeal to which he was totally unaccustomed. His nautical friends cautioned him to beware of the tricks of the lawyers, who were always intent upon making a witness contradict himself, and thus convict him of being a liar and a perjurer. Nothing could be more calculated to alarm the conscientious old salt than the prospect of having his own word questioned. At last he was called to the stand. The first question asked, after being sworn, was: "What is your name?" Here was a matter for deep reflection. He carefully weighed every consideration in mind, and was seemingly lost in abstraction until the question was repeated, sharply and incisively: "What is your name, sir?" There was no more time allowed for reflection, and the answer was jerked out of him: "The-o-do-rus Bailey—or words to that effect." And he added, after a long breath: "If that's perjury, make the most of it. I won't say another word to criminate myself!"—Argonaut.

English Walking Sticks.

Walking sticks are now perfectly straight, with a silver, gold, or fancy knob. They look like long wands of office. They are not as convenient as the old crook sticks, or even those with huge handles, but they are more dressy and in better taste. Some have pure, rock-crystal knobs, not drilled with an unsightly hole and screwed on, but set in gold sockets."

The First Rock.

Little Rock took its name from a boulder on the shore. It was said to be the first bit of stone seen by the early voyagers on their way from the mouth of the river to that point, and so they named the trading station Little Rock.

An Idea Brought Him a Fortune.

Congressman Charles G. Conn of Elkhart, Ind., who recently acquired control of the Washington Times, was a few years ago an obscure mender of musical instruments.

One day, while repairing a tuba, an idea occurred to him that was worth several million dollars and resulted in the invention of a rubber mouthpiece for musical wind instruments, which was patented and immediately adopted.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN BRIEF FORM.

By Running Your Eye Down This Column You Find Out What Is Happening In All Parts Of the Bower City—Short Super-Time Songs.

DR. CLARK A. MINER's experience with poison Friday night was not his only one in the last few days. A "fixed" watermelon nearly used him up while he was at supper. He had eaten about half a slice when he became very sick. He knew he had swallowed poison and ran up stairs for an antidote. When he came back he examined the watermelon and found enough strychnine crystallized on the rind to kill a dozen men. The melon had evidently been dosed while on the vine.

A BUGGY with ball bearings will run much easier and lighter than any other, does not need to be oiled but once in a great while, and is much easier taken care of. We are the first to show them in this section. See exhibition on fair grounds. Janesville Carriage Works.

PICKWICK suits and overcoats are moulds of perfection. They are made by the best tailors in the world and never fail to fit. The beauty of them is, they fit as if they were made to measure, any sized person, and cost no more than "hand-me-downs". T. J. Ziegler.

YOUNG People's Rectory club of Trinity church will give the last of the series of moonlight excursions on the Steamer Columbia, Tuesday, September 11. Tuckwood's orchestra with harp accompaniment will furnish music. A good time for all.

PARTIES desiring pasturage where there is good running water, can be accommodated on the Warner farm at Emerald Grove, where there is pasturage for thirty or forty head of stock. Apply to George Hanthorn, guardian Milton avenue.

We want to close out all our fine silk umbrellas. They are beauties, very pretty handles. We don't propose to keep any more umbrellas, you can have any of these at what they cost us. F. C. Cook & Co.

GOOD rubbers till you can't rest, and the lowest price. Go all around and get prices and makes and then come to us. We will discount their prices on same goods. Brown Bros. & Lincoln.

AN overcoat that we sold last year for $28, we can sell this year for $20, and so on through our entire stock; 33 1/3 per cent cheaper than a year ago. Come in and take a look. T. J. Ziegler.

YOUNG married people and all others who desire to own their homes, should take advantage of the bargains and easy terms offered by the C. S. Graves Land Co. for the best land in the state.

F. J. BAILEY, of the dry goods firm of Bort, Bailey & Co., arrived home from the east last night, where he spent $40,000 for dry goods. They are now arriving. Watch the bargains.

OFFICER JOHN W. HOGAN is in extremely good nature today which is accounted for by the reports from his South Franklin street home that a little hero arrived Sunday morning.

FOR sale at a bargain.—A four-year old bay mare, sixteen hands high. Weight about 1150 pounds. Sound and gentle. Inquire of W. J. McIntyre at the court house.

As soon as the silk umbrellas we have on hand are closed out we will sever our connection with umbrellas. Cost or less will take what we have. F. C. Cook & Co.

THE citizens seem to like the idea we have adopted of dividing the profit. We propose to keep it up, it makes a big difference to the consumer. Bort, Bailey & Co.

DOE IS A MARTINET ARMY MEN INSIST.

SECRETARY'S COURSE CAUSES VIGOROUS PROTEST.

Men of Long Experience in Military Affairs Say the Assumption of Power Since Lamont Went Away Will Be Brought to the Attention of the President.

General Doe should return to Washington at once. He no more gets out of town before evil-minded people begin peddling cruel stories. Says a Washington dispatch in the Sunday Inter Ocean:

"Mr. Doe, the young man who came here from a position in connection with the Wisconsin state militia, to be an assistant secretary of war, is being vigorously denounced both by the experienced officials of the war department and by distinguished army officers, who won their rank and fame when Doe was in knickerbockers, at what they consider an extraordinary assumption of authority on his part. Mr. Doe has established regulations as if he were the supreme authority of the government. He has directed that the officials of the war department and army officers, shall under no circumstances, give out any information as to the operations of the department, directly or indirectly, by letter or verbally, except upon the consent of Mr. Doe himself. Nothing of this sort has ever been attempted in the history of the war department, and it is resented as a piece of arrogant audacity by a young man who has been placed in a position where he has assumed extraordinary authority because of the long absence of Secretary Lamont.

"Army officials say that they do not believe that Secretary Lamont will tolerate any such martinet system when he shall become advised of it, and least of all that he will permit this young militia adjutant to assume such lofty airs toward the venerable officers of the army.

"The policy of secrecy in the department is generally the accompaniment of corruption. That has been true in more departments than one, and it is true today. Officials who have wished to have crooked transactions withheld from the public have resorted to the policy of secrecy and mystery to aid them to do this. By this method some of the greatest department scandals and jobs which have ever been perpetrated have been rendered possible and investigation of them has shown that if a system of terrorism had not been practiced by the government officials which prevented the exposure of the crookedness at the time it was committed the robbery would not have been possible. No suggestions of this sort are made as to the extraordinary assumption of authority on the part of Assistant Secretary Doe, but there are many influential persons who will resist his attempt to play the despot in the war department, and among them are persons high in the authority of the government and in congress who may feel called upon to inform this new and inexperienced official that he cannot assume to himself the powers and authority of the government of the United States. This at least is the talk of old army officers, and it cannot fail but that it shall reach congress and the president."

KNOWLTON FELL DEAD ON SHORE

Alderman C. D. Child Gets Word of His Brother-in-Law's Demise.

Alderman C. D. Child was called to Rockford on Saturday evening on account of the sudden death of his brother-in-law, F. T. Knowlton. Sometime ago Mr. Knowlton received a severe injury by overlifting while at work in a foundry, from the effects of which he never recovered sufficiently to return to his work. Saturday morning, while engaged in pulling some floating timbers from a creek near his house he fell over on the back of the stream, and soon after expired. Heart disease is supposed to be the cause of his death. Alderman Child goes to Rockford again this evening to attend the funeral tomorrow. Mr. Knowlton formerly resided in Janesville, he being employed as a moulder by the Janesville Machine Company. He went to Rockford about seven years ago.

WILL DANCE FOR FIRE SUFFERERS.

Proceeds of the T. A. & B. Party to Be Sent to the Plineries.

The members of St. Patrick's T. A. & B. society held a meeting Sunday afternoon and resolved to turn over the receipts of the dancing party Thursday evening to Mayor Thorpe for distribution among the northern fire sufferers. The party promises to be largely attended and it is estimated that between seventy-five and one hundred dollars will be realized.

False.

He knows I loved him, ah, so well! I knew my future would be heaven or hell, All was summed up in this one "mad spell" How it would end, I could not tell.

He smiled in my eyes, yet well he knew How I trusted him; and his eyes so blue: O, God! I would have died had he told me To in my very soul I believed him so true.

Life looked so bright, but yesterday, Now all is changed, no one bright ray Left in my heart for aye and aye, Shall I wait, and watch and grieve and pray.

Did I weep when I knew the dye was cast? O, no; my tears were held back fast. My eyes were hot and dry; and the past Was a flickering dream: too bright to last.

You were false, O love of mine—to me— And no other love do I care to see. Life is no life, unless shared with thee And I long for death's sweet mystery.

ABBIE A. FORD.

FOUGHT FOR THE BLUE HOP-TOADS George Trenwith Demanded More Time In His Private Menagerie.

George Trenwith was not quite drunk enough Saturday night. He hadn't seen blue hop toads.

Blue hop toads are George's weather gauge. As soon as they appear he knows he is just as drunk as possible, and he goes to jail uncomplainingly. The officers were too busy to wait Saturday night, and tried to round him up before the first Bufo vulgaris of azure hue had bobbed across his mental horizon.

George protested.

It was long before his regular time to be arrested, and he knew it. Why, even the procession of speckled freight cars and six-legged wheelbarrows hadn't come in sight yet, and they always come an hour ahead of the batrachians. He pre-terminated against being locked up until all the animals had been exhibited. To think that they would be filing past in variegated hues and startling shapes for another hour and he not there to see them! He wept. His custodian was obdurate. He grew violent. The officer remained firm. He kicked the guardian of the peace twice under the short ribs and finally he drew down a reply in the shape of a cut over the head from a hickory walking stick that left a three-inch gash. Dr. Joe Whiting sewed up the wound and today Trenwith nodded affably to Judge Phelps and took a five days' sentence without a protest. Hugh Miller, who was also enjoying himself Saturday night, got five days off the same piece.

WILL BE NO TEA FAMINE YET

Enough Flower of Japan Tea to Supply Us For Many Days.

Perhaps few people hereabouts care much that China seems determined to wash out her neighbor's insults by the spilling of Japanese blood, but who would not be sorry for the slip that robs the lips of a grateful and comforting cup of tea like the Flower of Japan? The land of the Mikado interests American people but very little. The man who turns his pants up at the bottom, draws the line at a pig tail. The woman who must have French hats and Paris "Modes" would sooner wear a Chicago shoe than a Kioto sandal. America knows very little about Japan and cares less. But surely hostilities between the two almost-eyed races of Asia have assumed proportions which threaten to cripple commerce. Tea drinkers are waking up, and naturally want to know the prospects of a tea famine. It would be terrible should tea-totallers, in desperation, be driven to drink—that is, if as a substitute they selected the essence of their native rye. But such will never occur as the Flower of Japan is the best tea in the world that sells for fifty cents a pound.

BARBERS ENJOYED A BOAT RIDE.

Thirteen Couples Went Up the River Sunday Morning.

Thirteen bold barber men and their ladies fair braved the perils of the Rock yesterday and fared forth for full six miles. Then they established a camp and spent the day communing with nature. They got back under cover just in time to dodge the rain.

Those who formed the body were Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Reynolds, Thomas Matthews, M. H. Whitaker, T. H. Anderson, J. U. Fulton, A. A. Bunt, Phil. Ohlweiler, and Jacob Ohlweiler; Messrs. O. P. Matthews, J. Griffin, Dell Showers, William Kober and Burt Keplinger; and Misses Maggie Croake, Minnie Mackin and Susie Maxwell.

TO ADOPT A RITUAL.

Important Feature of Keeley League Convention This Week.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Sept. 10.—The fourth national convention of the Keeley league will be held here Sept. 11, 12 and 13. Fully 2,000 delegates are expected at this convention, including the woman's auxiliary, which has practically the same basis of representation. In Colorado alone there are two dozen leagues. The work of organization has been pushed until almost every state and territory is represented.

A question of much interest to be settled by the convention is that of a ritual. It has been prominent in the discussions of the leagues, local and state, throughout the year, and will doubtless be settled next week. It is proposed to confer three degrees—one upon graduation, the second and third in one and two years following respectively. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

PILES OF CLOTHING FOR FIRE VICTIMS.

SIX MEN KEPT BUSY RECEIVING BUNDLES.

Store on the Bridge Full of Everything From Corduroy Knickerbockers to Calico Mother Hubbard's—Rev. A. H. Barrington Receives Directions From Governor Peck.

Old clothes were dumped into the relief headquarters on the bridge this morning as fast as F. S. Winslow and five men could throw them. They made a line across the sidewalk and passed bundles the way men "hustle" peach baskets on South Water street. Five wagons patrolled the town and gathered so many big loads that people began to wonder where the Janesville poor would go for old coats and shoes later in the year.

"We are getting some very fine articles," said one of the east side collectors this noon. "One lady gave us a box filled with nice new sheets and pillow cases, and after we had loaded the box into the wagon she gave us a five dollar bill to give to the needy." In quite a number of places we were given new quilts, blankets and some very good clothing. Flour is being donated quite freely, and if the thing keeps up to the end we will have stuff enough to load two cars."

Rev. A. H. Barrington received a letter from Governor Peck this morning, stating that all donations of clothing and food would be gladly received, and suggesting that all donations of money should be forwarded to Colonel W. J. Boyle, 400 East Water street, Milwaukee, also that Colonel Boyle would give information regarding the shipment of food and clothing. Liberal gifts were made by the members of Christ church at the special service yesterday.

Captain Alex. Buchholz of Crystal Springs, and Captain Richard Griffiths of Mayflower park, have agreed to give the use of their respective resorts for a grand picnic, the funds to go to the relief of the fire sufferers in northern Wisconsin. They will also donate one-half the proceeds of the fare collected on the boats and one-half of all the sales on the ground.

THE SUBSTITUTE.

At the opera house on Wednesday night, the attraction will be Ezra Kendall in his latest success "The Substitute" founded on an incident of the civil war, a young man having become the substitute for his friend and neighbor who was drafted. Unlike most plays having a suggestion of the late "misunderstanding" there is none of the martial "hooray" clap-trap usually introduced to divert the attention of the onlooker and blind him as to the genuineness of the "materializations," but as might be supposed by anyone familiar with Mr. Kendall's previous work the comedy is the dominant feature.

Rock County Fair.

For the above occasion the Northwestern line will sell excursion tickets to Janesville and return at greatly reduced rates; tickets on sale September 10 to 14, good for return passage until September 15, 1894. For tickets and full information apply to agents Chicago & Northwestern railway.

THE AMERICAN SUEZ CAN'T BE GOBBLED.

ENGLAND MUST KEEP HER HANDS OFF.

A Writer in the Illustrated American Believes that a Secret Diplomatic War Is Being Waged by England—May Develop into Real War Any Day.

THE INSURRECTION to territory under the leadership of the young chief Clarence is a secret conspiracy to strangle the commerce and influence of the United States by seizing the entrance of the unfinished Nicaragua ship canal. The plan is so daring that the country is scarcely awake to the actual peril of the situation, although the sudden departure of American warships for the Mosquito coast indicates that somebody in Washington understands the meaning of the apparently local rebellion in Central America.

It is amazing to see how airily the American press deals with a crisis that threatens the future commercial and military supremacy of the United States on this side of the Atlantic. The victory of Clarence and his naked savages would mean a British protectorate over the Mosquito coast and British control of the eastern mouth of the Nicaragua canal. Every statesman in the country has declared that the American people must have dominion over that waterway. It will bring New York 10,000 miles nearer to San Francisco. It will bring San Francisco 11,000 miles nearer to New Orleans. It will bring Acapulco 10,000 miles nearer to New Orleans. It will open up the markets of Asia to the Atlantic states. It will bring the industries of the eastern and southern states into direct relations with the western coast of South America. But, more important still, it will

PRINCE CLARENCE AND HIS ADVISERS. form a channel through which war vessels can be hurried from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

It is time for an outcry. The hand of Great Britain is plain to be seen in this blow aimed at the United States. The often repeated boast of the canal financiers that England would own the waterway and block the progress of the American people unless congress came to the rescue had a cutting edge. I sat in the Nicaragua canal congress a year and a half ago and heard that threat made again and again. I regarded it at first as mere bombast intended to secure a large price for the purchase of an unprofitable enterprise, but I changed my mind when I heard the impressive and significant speech of Senator Morgan of Alabama, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations. He, too, saw the possibility of war between the United States and Great Britain over this tremendous issue.

And now the first move in the British plan has been made. The Mosquito coast has rebelled. Chief Clarence has announced that he has the moral support of Great Britain. The control of the Nicaragua canal is at stake. But we have the history of Egypt and the Suez canal to guide us. Anciently the Mosquito coast and its king were under British protection. That was as far back as 1660, when the Spaniards, who acquired their rights through Columbus in 1502, allowed the little kingdom to place itself in the guardianship of Charles II. British colonists have tried at various times to establish settlements in the Mosquito country, but they have never been successful. British merchants have controlled all trade there. Early in the present century the United States began to show signs of irritation and every resource of American diplomacy was employed to eject the British from their foothold in Central America. The country saw then what the country seems to be blind to now. Even at that time there was talk of a ship canal across Nicaragua and the Americans were quick to see what an overwhelming part it would play in the development of the continent. In 1850 the United States and Great Britain bound themselves by treaty "not to occupy, fortify, colonize or exercise dominion over the Mosquito coast or

The last public entertainment given by M. Casimir-Perier before he assumed the office of president was a garden party given by him in the garden of the Palais Bourbon on June 23, the day before Carnot was murdered. M. Casimir-Perier was at that time president of the chamber of deputies, and his receptions were attended by the leading people of Paris. Mme. Casimir-Perier always presided and they were invariably occasions of great enjoyment.

In a recent conversation Mme. Casimir-Perier said that she had changed her residence six times during the past twelve months, but she also said that which few others could say in narrating such an unusual number of

"house-movings," that each change had been brought about by her husband's advance in position.

A singular fact that has been discovered in the general search for quaint items associated with the dead and the living president is the following: The beginning of anarchy as a system is generally traced to the writings of Prudhon, but there was a very curious reference to it in France in 1857. At that time M. Rigault, who was the official candidate for the Bouches du Rhone, began his election address with these words: "The hydra of anarchy raises its head." It is interesting to notice that his opponent, whom he thus described as the representative of anarchy, was Hippolyte Carnot, the father of the president who was destined to die by the dagger of an anarchist.

THE BELLE OF HONG KONG.

She Is One of the Few Beautiful Women in China.

If China were only as beautiful in its personnel as in its scenery! There are not over many beautiful women in China, says a traveler, and fewer handsome men; but the Chinese women of

THE PRETTIEST WOMAN IN HONG KONG high rank are, to the best of my belief, always intelligent and charming, and usually highly educated, often intellectual; and in Hong Kong I knew at least one Chinese woman who would anywhere take rank as a beauty.

The Korean Trouble.

The exact nature or origin of the quarrel of Japan and China over Korea is not easy to define. China possesses a vague right of suzerainty in Korea, which has been acknowledged by the payment of tribute, but China has never exercised any open control there. Both China and Japan have trade relations with Korea and subjects living within its borders, of whom the Japanese seem to be the more numerous, active and wealthy. Both governments claim, by treaty with each other and with Korea, the right to land troops to preserve order and protect the interests of their own people. It is now alleged by Japan that her subjects in Korea have been wronged, and are actually exposed to violence and maltreatment. It is also claimed by Japan that China was asked to join in sending troops to Korea to protect the treaty rights of the Japanese traders and residents and of her own, and not only refused, but protested against independent action by Japan. It is further claimed that an insurgent leader of Korea, having taken refuge in Japan, was decoyed by Chinese agents to Chinese territory, and there betrayed to the Korean government and slain—an act which Japan counts not only a violation of good faith, but a wilful affront on the part of both the Chinese and Korean governments. In these claims there is nothing that could not be settled peaceably if all parties desired peace. Apparently none of them desire peace. China is friendly to the actual Korean government, because it is largely under her influence. Japan is friendly to the opposition faction in Korea, because it desires at least the influence which China possesses in Korea, and probably much greater.

Taking No Chances.

Col. Ingersoll once called upon Rev. Phillips Brooks, and the great preacher received him at once, although he had declined to see many distinguished preachers. "Why have you shown me this marked distinction?" inquired the colonel. "The reason is simple," replied Dr. Brooks; "if those preachers die, I'll be sure to meet them again in heaven; whereas, had you gone away and died, I should never have met you again. I thought I had better take no chances."

THE FALLING APPLE.

Theory Which Promises to Eclipse That of Sir Isaac Newton.

While Sir Isaac Newton was idly wandering his way through the shady avenues of an apple orchard but a few centuries back his silent thoughts were abruptly disturbed by a sharp crack upon his cranium.

On recovering his senses he discovered that a large, ripe descendant of the forbidden fruit had become detached from a well-laden branch and for some unknown reason had made its way toward the ground, though incidentally meeting with an obstacle which retarded its course.

This simple incident set Mr. Newton to thinking and he wondered why the apple should fall downward and not upward.

This gave rise to additional meditation, while others took up the study and it was finally contended that there was a force which caused all things to sink to the earth, and so, upon Sir Isaac's discovery, the laws of attraction and gravitation were founded, until now the Newtonian theory is recognized in physics as a scientific truth.

Robert Stevenson in a lecture before the San Francisco academy of science recently made it known that the illustrious Isaac was "not in it," so to speak, and that his theory as regards the falling of an apple downward was simply the product of a diseased imagination.

Mr. Stevenson does not hold that an apple should make its way heavenward to feed the angels, but contends that the Newtonian laws have nothing to do with the production of the laws of gravitation, and that if the world revolved at a greater velocity than its present limit the inhabitants thereon would be enabled to walk about in the air without the least inconvenience, while apples would fall upward, downward, eastward, westward or any other direction at the mercy of the wind.

He further contended that a horizontal bar would reach the ground much quicker than a falling body, and concluded by stating upon authority that the common saying, "the sun rises," or "the sun sets," is positively false, as the sun is quite stationary, while it is the earth that revolves once every twenty-four hours, thus meeting the sun daily.

Bloomers in Central Park.

One of the most pleasant sights of Central park, on pleasant afternoons, says a New York paper, "is to see the procession of women bicyclists who ride in bloomers and seem to rejoice in their emancipation from skirts. They have ceased to excite astonishment and almost comment, and certainly demonstrate the common sense and appropriateness of a dress that is not only cool, sensible and comfortable, but modest and becoming. The latest bicycles for women are now being made without the drop bar, and we may expect to be able to discriminate between the sexes when on wheels only by the fullness of the trousers and the character of the back hair. An authority on the subject, who rides every day, tells me, however, that the majority of the women will always prefer the drop bar as being more distinctive and feminine."

"The constant drop of water
Wears away the hardest stone.
The constant gnaw of Towser
Masticates the toughest bone.

The constant coming lover
Carries off the blushing maid,
And the constant advertiser
Is the one who gets the trade."

CASES AND BALES

Of new goods for fall. Several hundred have been received and we are opening new lots at the rate of about ten a day. Big selling means big buying. We are on the ground floor when it comes to buying, and while our prices on some goods may not be any lower than others, you can always depend on getting the best quality here and you know that low prices and poor qualities will never win.

NEW ARE

$6000 worth of Fur Capes and Jackets, all that's proper, and at prices that will be a pleasant surprise to you. The variety is large and ours are simply perfection in style and make.

$3000 worth of Cloth Garments, Coat Styles and Capes, in Coverts, Chinchillas, Wide Wale Diagonals, Roughs, Broadcloths.

We are the first to show new WINTER GARMENTS, and already have a nice trade. Young ladies going away to school, women preparing for a journey, others buying because they see just what they want. We are ready for you when you come and are prepared to make lower prices than ever

We Keep the Quality Up. Drop in.

WE DON'T BELONG TO THE TRUST, WE BELIEVE IN BUYING

wherever we can get it the cheapest and sell it likewise. We discarded high prices long ago, consequently the trust discarded us. We have enough furniture bought for this season's business to start three fine furniture stores. It is arriving now.

We will Discount ANY price Named By any other Furniture house in the city.

WE STAND ALONE. HAVE YOU SEEN THOSE HANDSOME

COUCHES

We will sell them one at a time for the same others pay the factory. Our goods are not in the house long enough to become shop worn, Only high-priced dealers keep their furniture. We belong to no trust or combine to hold furniture prices up.

Laces ! Laces !

More Laces than ever before came into Janesville in a Single shipment.

LACES are to be one of the strong Dress Trimmings for Fall. They are being largely used in the dress making departments of all of the large cities. Point effects are particularly good; the long points trim down from the waist and the short points up, also the points trim up from the bottom of the skirt.

WE HAVE THEM IN

Black, White and Butter Color

In almost endless variety of styles, kind and price. Never in our Dry Goods experience have Laces been so cheap. 50c buys as good a Lace as 85c did six months ago.

LADIES, If you want Laces, don't miss this beautiful lot; if you are not ready to buy, come and see and post yourself as to the correct trimming for your fall dress.

We shall continue to sell hundreds of different items in the Dry Goods line at cut prices and lower than you can find them at any other store in the city.

Come to us for Laces, we are sure you will not regret it.
